A Religious Attitudes Inventory

DEVELOPED BY
WILLIAM E. CRANE and J. HENRY COFFER, JR.

INSTRUCTIONS:

1. This is a Religious Attitudes Inventory. It is not a test. There are no "right" or "wrong" answers. Any answer is "correct" if it reflects your own attitudes and feelings. Be sure to give your own answer not what you feel is expected of you.

2. The purpose of this inventory is to help you discover and express doubts, attitudes, and feelings about God, yourself, religion, and life.

3. Some inventory statements may seem to have more than one meaning. In each case, the statement means what you think it means. You may wish to mark such statements for discussion with your counselor who will welcome the opportunity to talk with you.

Please Supply the Following Information: Your age _____ Sex? M _____ F _____
Your Education? _____ Your denominational background or Church _____

HOW TO FILL IN THE INVENTORY:

After carefully reading each statement, indicate your feelings about what the statement says to you by drawing a circle around the appropriate letters at the left of the statement.

1. When you draw a circle around SA you strongly agree with the statement.
2. Your circle around A means that you tend to agree with what is said.
3. A circle around U indicates that you are undecided and do not know how you feel about what the statement says to you.
4. Your circle around D means you tend to disagree with what is said.
5. When you draw a circle around SD you strongly disagree with the statement.
6. Make an X in your circle if you would like to discuss the statement or you think you should feel differently but cannot.

Be sure to indicate your feelings about every statement in the inventory.

Write here any questions or thoughts you would like to discuss with your counselor.

Key for marking items below. SA – Strongly Agree; A – Agree; U – Undecided;
D – Disagree; SD – Strongly Disagree.

SA A U D SD 1. The Bible is a man-made set of religious rules and regulations.
SA A U D SD 2. Being aware of the Presence of God is the same as being in church.
SA A U D SD 3. In death one is released from the burdens and difficulties of life.
SA A U D SD 4. Faith is basing one's life on the belief that God loves us.
SA A U D SD 5. God is not a separate Being. He is a feeling deep inside of man.
SA A U D SD 6. Because God is so far away, it is difficult to pray to Him.
SA A U D SD 7. Christianity helps a person become what God intends him to be.
SA A U D SD 8. People who have never heard the gospel cannot go to heaven.
SA A U D SD 9. The wrathful God portrayed by the Bible is unworthy of worship or good will.
SA A U D SD 10. The church is a fellowship of people who accept one another in love.
SA A U D SD 11. In freeing man from his body, death frees him from temptation to sin.
SA A U D SD 12. If one has enough faith, his beliefs cannot be changed.
SA A U D SD 13. It is difficult to believe in God.
SA A U D SD 14. We should work rather than pray, for God helps those who help themselves.
SA A U D SD 15. Jesus provides a way for man to reach God.
SA A U D SD 16. The Bible is a book for and about the past. It is now out of date.
SA A U D SD 17. In the Christian church God is at work for man's good.
SA A U D SD 18. The soul never dies. It is immortal.
SA A U D SD 19. In the Christian faith there is a personal relationship with God.
SA A U D SD 20. It is impossible to know God.
SA A U D SD 21. To be a true Christian one must go about righting wrongs and correcting injustices.
SA A U D SD 22. Religion helps one overcome the temptations of an evil body.
SA A U D SD 23. Knowing about the life and teachings of Jesus can save one from sin.
SA A U D SD 24. The Bible makes us face up to religious issues and questions we might otherwise avoid.
SA A U D SD 25. A sinner who attends church is a hypocrite.
SA A U D SD 26. Death is an eternal separation from one's family and friends.
SA A U D SD 27. God cares for us. He can be trusted.
SA A U D SD 28. Sometimes I think God is angry with me.
SA A U D SD 29. In prayer man explains himself to God so God can understand him better.
SA A U D SD 30. A Christian reads the Bible and prays daily. He attends church regularly.
SA A U D SD 31. By dying on the cross, Jesus took away God's anger towards men.
SA A U D SD 32. The Bible proves that God exists and is actively interested in man.
SA A U D SD 33. The church is a fellowship of sinners who accept each other as they are.
SA A U D SD 34. There will be no life after death apart from some kind of a body.
SA A U D SD 35. Whatever happens to him the Christian knows that God is treating him better than he deserves.
SA A U D SD 36. God does reward us for good behavior.

SA A U D SD 37. Since God does answer prayers, we must pray only for right things.

SA A U D SD 38. Being a Christian is mainly a matter of being honest and good.

SA A U D SD 39. The church is God's instrument for saving men from sin.

SA A U D SD 40. A Christian accepts and believes everything in the Bible.

SA A U D SD 41. God is responsible for everything that happens.

SA A U D SD 42. Prayer makes the power of God available to man.

SA A U D SD 43. Because he fears God a Christian does not yield to temptation.

SA A U D SD 44. Suffering and evil are caused by the Devil.

SA A U D SD 45. A Christian should take every opportunity to show non-Christians the error of their ways.

SA A U D SD 46. One must become a really good person before he has the right to join the church.

SA A U D SD 47. Suffering is a punishment for sin.

SA A U D SD 48. Christian faith is mainly a matter of believing that God will take care of everything.

SA A U D SD 49. God does not know I exist. He is not concerned about me.

SA A U D SD 50. Prayer is only a socially accepted way of talking to oneself.

SA A U D SD 51. Christianity helps one to accept others as they are.

SA A U D SD 52. If Mary was not a virgin, Jesus was not the Son of God.

SA A U D SD 53. Man can come closer to God in church than in any other place.

SA A U D SD 54. A Christian can accept suffering and death as the will of God.

SA A U D SD 55. God will do whatever we ask if we have enough faith in Him when we ask Him.

SA A U D SD 56. A Christian is contented and happy with the one earthly life God has given to him.

SA A U D SD 57. Prayer is nothing more than a way to organize and solve one's problems.

SA A U D SD 58. Non-Christians should be compelled to learn about Christianity.

SA A U D SD 59. The fact that Christ overcame death is our assurance of a life after death.

SA A U D SD 60. The Bible is a wonderful book – but just a book – nothing more.

SA A U D SD 61. Being a Christian is mainly a matter of believing in God and has nothing to do with social issues such as business, politics, and race.

SA A U D SD 62. There is no life for the individual after death.

SA A U D SD 63. The believing Christian rarely ever has troubles or worries.

SA A U D SD 64. God is a personal friend to me.

SA A U D SD 65. The Christian religion helps one appreciate and enjoy life.

SA A U D SD 66. God has revealed His nature and character through Jesus.

SA A U D SD 67. If science should contradict the Bible, a Christian would agree with the Bible.

SA A U D SD 68. Work for and in the church is more pleasing to God than any other work.

SA A U D SD 69. If God exists He is not good.

SA A U D SD 70. It is useless for one to pray if he has not been living in accordance with his Christian beliefs.

SA A U D SD 71. I am afraid of what will happen to me after death.

SA A U D SD 72. God can be trusted because Jesus can be trusted.

SA A U D SD    73. A Christian does not worry about the future.
SA A U D SD    74. Wishful thinking accounts for the belief that God exists.
SA A U D SD    75. Simply by listening to my troubles God gives me all the support I need.
SA A U D SD    76. A Christian has the courage to face life's problems head on.
SA A U D SD    77. It is possible that Jesus was a mentally sick person.
SA A U D SD    78. The Bible is an account of man's efforts to understand his relationship to God.

SA A U D SD    79. It is up to the church to maintain high moral standards in a community.
SA A U D SD    80. A loving God would not put anyone, no matter how bad, in a place of torment.
SA A U D SD    81. God punishes those who doubt.
SA A U D SD    82. God has good reasons for the things man dislikes or does not understand.
SA A U D SD    83. Jesus was a great prophet and teacher – nothing more.
SA A U D SD    84. A Christian is able to reconcile the miracles of the Bible with what man now knows about the world.

SA A U D SD    85. Death cannot be understood in relation to a loving God.
SA A U D SD    86. Christians should be able to question the teachings of the church without feeling that they have deserted their faith.

SA A U D SD    87. Through prayer one always gains enough strength to overcome temptation.
SA A U D SD    88. God always helps Christians when they are in trouble.
SA A U D SD    89. It is God's will that all men be like Jesus.

SA A U D SD    90. The Bible gives the right answer to every human conflict or problem.
SA A U D SD    91. Sincere Christians do not go to church for business and social reasons.
SA A U D SD    92. Unless there is a life after death this life is meaningless.

SA A U D SD    93. No matter who we are or what we have done God accepts us and loves us.
SA A U D SD    94. This life is mainly a period of preparation for life after death.
SA A U D SD    95. The Christian faith requires one to believe that God rewards the good and punishes the bad.

SA A U D SD    96. If God must be feared He cannot be loved.
SA A U D SD    97. Prayer is its own reward. It provides release from tension and worry.
SA A U D SD    98. God still commands mankind through the Bible and these commandments must be obeyed.

SA A U D SD    99. A sincere Christian is good because he chooses to be good.
SA A U D SD    100. Through prayer we can make God do what we want Him to do.
SA A U D SD    101. The Bible records God's gradual disclosure of Himself to man.

SA A U D SD    102. If man is "born in sin" and reared in sinful surroundings, he should not be held responsible for his sins.

SA A U D SD    103. God watches each person and keeps a record of his good and evil deeds.
SA A U D SD    104. Because I believe God created me I accept myself as His creature.
SA A U D SD    105. A Christian should be able to be completely honest in confessing his weaknesses and sins to God.

SA A U D SD    106. A person who cannot pray is not a Christian.
SA A U D SD    107. Jesus does not understand sinners because He never sinned.

THE ROMANTIC COMPLEX

Much of the difficulty in modern marriage is recognized to be due to a failure to understand what Love is. People who are otherwise intelligent, still try to live with an entirely immature concept. The Mass Media of education, which are mainly responsible for the public's ideas on this subject, consistently depict the nation's "love life" as based on the Romantic Platform, which consists of five planks, all too well known; but let me identify them here again, for the sake of argument.

The first plank in the Romantic Platform is that Love is a mysterious visitation, which comes out of the nowhere into the here and takes hold of you,—just like measles. Once it comes into your life in this unexpected and inexplicable way, it is understood that the rest of your life ought to be an effortless ecstasy. If it transpires later that some effort is involved, it merely shows that you guessed wrong, after all. You thought he was your predestined Soul Mate; but if so, he would have made you happy. Since he doesn't make you happy, there is nothing to do but throw him out and try again.

In general, not only is Love understood to be a mysterious visitation, but it is one that is recognized intuitively. You don't have to argue with yourself about it. Indeed, we are often assured that if it's the Real Thing, you won't have to be told. You will know without asking.

Beyond this, ideally again, it is recognized at first sight. Of course mistakes may be made. A girl declares, "I fell in love with him at first sight," and her friend asks, "Why didn't you marry him, then?"

"Oh," the girl replies, "I saw him again afterward."

In the orthodox theory, however, Love is a mysterious visitation appreciated intuitively and coming without any warning or preparation.

The second plank in the Romantic Platform is that when Love thus comes into your life unexpected, perhaps even unwanted, it is so important that you must give up everything else for it. No sacrifice can be too great to make for the cultivation of this extraordinary phenomenon—so we are told. A man, we are continually assured, is justified in giving up his wife for it. A woman is justified in abandoning her home and children for it. A king is justified in surrendering his throne for it. Anybody is justified in giving up anything, in favor of this extraordinary event that has happened so unexpectedly. That is the firm assurance of the public, which takes its stand unswervingly on the Romantic Platform.

The third plank in the Romantic Platform is that Love is a mysterious visitation in both a positive and a negative sense,—in other words, it may go as unexpectedly as it came, and there is nothing you can do about that, either. It is not, in any way, subject to human control. We are often informed that it is like the wind, which bloweth where it listeth and no man can say whence it cometh or whither it goeth,—all we can know is that it came, and it's gone. You must be realistic enough to understand that these affairs can't be expected to last forever. It was wonderful while it lasted; but it's over now, and you can't get any flames out of cold ashes and dead cinders.

The fourth plank in the Romantic Platform is that while one of these Great Events may come into your life, and go its way, another one may come along to take its place. You are not necessarily limited to one such episode. You can be a two-time loser, or a three-time loser, or a sort of chain-store loser. In fact, some ambitious manticist the only thing that counts is the present, and the only thing that counts in the present is the sensation that this wonderful creature arouses in your manly breast.

Actually, therefore, you can't be in love with the girl as a person, but merely with what she appears to be. You are the victim of glamour.

If a beautiful picture is put into a beautiful frame, that is entirely appropriate. Glamour enters when the value of the package is greater than the value of the contents. Dr. Aurelia Reinhardt, former president of Mills College, used to complain that the modern girl is too vogue on the outside and too vague on the inside. That's the Glamour Girl: pretty as a picture,—over-exposed and under-developed. Young men haven't been educated to deal with such phenomena. They continue firmly to believe that the intensity of their own subjective sensations is the real measure of Love.

Actually, then, the man isn't in love with any of these girls, at any time. He is merely in love with his own sensations. In short, he is merely in love with himself!

Now, who is it that is characteristically in love with his own sensations,— with himself? It is the baby, of course. He comes into the world with a ready-made and active love life, devoted entirely to loving himself. He is entirely concerned with what he can get out of the world, with what it can do for him; and he doesn't care who suffers as long as he gets what he wants. His parents may have been out doing a hard day's work. They come in at night tired, get a little supper, stack the dishes, go out to a party. They come home at midnight, even more tired, and badly in need of a little sleep so they can go through the same performance the next day. The baby doesn't care whether they need sleep. He won't hesitate for an instant to get them up at one o'clock and keep them up the rest of the night, if he wants a little nourishment or even just a little sociability. He wants what he wants when he wants it.

We don't blame him for it. We say, "He's just a baby." But if he is 40 years old, six feet tall, weighs 200 lbs., and still wants what he wants when he wants it, is still ready to sacrifice everyone for the sake of his own wants or the gratification of his own whims, then all we can say is that in his Love Life he's still a baby!

The whole Romantic Platform, then, turns out to be merely the infant's self-love, dressed in a few grown-up clothes, with Hollywood stage settings, and trying to make a child's game out of the most serious adult responsibility. I have been caricaturing it here; but think back over the fiction you've read, the movies or TV programs you've seen, in the last 30 days, and I think you'll agree that every one of the five planks I have identified has been presented, sympathetically, as an unquestioned truth, somewhere along the line.

Now what relation has the Romantic Platform to St. Paul's words in the 13th chapter of the first epistle to the Corinthians? None whatever! The one is the antithesis, the negation of the other. And yet each purports to describe Love. One of the greatest needs of our culture today is to clear up this confusion. A good deal has been written on the subject! Erich Fromm distinguishes "productive love" which contains at least four basic elements: care, responsibility, respect, and knowledge. Obviously, these are almost the opposite of the traits that are found in the Romantic Complex. Shall we speak of the latter, by contrast, as "Unproductive love?" It would not be too inaccurate; but this semantic problem needs more detailed treatment. Some students of the subject have reached the pessimistic conclusion that the only solution is to eliminate the word Love from the dictionary altogether.

While awaiting that improbable outcome, those concerned with successful marriage will have to spend much more time and energy in helping young people, and their parents and grandparents, to know what they are talking about.—Paul Popenoe.

THE ROMANTIC COMPLEX has been reprinted from Family Life Magazine with permission from Dr. Paul Popenoe. We will be happy to send copies of this article to teachers, counselors, and group discussion leaders. Let us know how many copies you need and send 25¢ in stamps to cover postage costs.

An Illustrated Wedding Guide

By Betty Stuart Rodgers and
Elizabeth Connally Pearce

$3.25

Here's a book that will serve as a wedding work sheet for a bride and her family. It covers the many arrangements and plans that must be made . . . conferences with the clergyman, arrangements with the photographer, florist, organist, soloist, caterer, attendants, flower girls, store consultants, countless others.

The book starts off with a check list of the 33 essential arrangements that must be made regardless of the size of the wedding and regardless of the time in which they must be made. Check these and the bride is free to cope with the unpredictable emergencies.

FAMILY LIFE PUBLICATIONS, INC.

POST OFFICE BOX 6725, COLLEGE STATION, DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

Spring 1965

Dear College Teachers and Counselors:

On the reverse side of this letter you will find descriptions of inventories and other teaching and counseling aids we publish. These materials are widely used in college and university classes in sociology, psychology, education, and religion throughout the United States and Canada. Our Sex Knowledge Inventories have been translated into Spanish, French, German, and Polish.

You will note that we have published A Religious Attitudes Inventory, since our last letter to you. We believe you will want to use this inventory for teaching and/or counseling. We enclose sample copies of the inventory and profile sheet. If you wish to have a copy of the 20 page manual, send us 30¢ in coins or stamps and we will mail at once. Postage and printing costs prohibit our sending a free copy of the manual at this time.

We also send you a reprint of Dr. Paul Popenoe's The Romantic Complex and a separate printing of our Self-Help Books for Pre-Marital and Married Counselees. The Popenoe reprint and the Self-Help list can be secured in quantity for class use. Tell us how many of these you need and send 25¢ to cover postage for each request. We have sent our book lists to the order librarian at your school with the hope that you will want to recommend library orders. We allow a 20% discount to school libraries.

Please note we will send you complete specimen sets of all teaching and counseling materials listed for $4.50. This will include a complete specimen set of the Religious Attitudes Inventory. For $1.50 we can send you complete specimen sets of all items except S.K.I. Form X.

We recommend the book, A Doctor's Marital Guide, for student use with our S.K.I. Form X and What Teen-Agers Want to Know, for student use with S.K.I. Form Y.

You will find individual and quantity prices for our materials on the order form enclosed. We hope you will use and recommend our book service.

Please let us know when we can be of service to you.

Sincerely yours,

Gelolo McHugh, Ph. D.

INFORMATION ABOUT COUNSELING AND TEACHING AIDS FROM FAMILY LIFE PUBLICATIONS, INC.

1. The SEX KNOWLEDGE INVENTORIES, Forms X and Y, provide discussional openings to cover items of sex knowledge and attitudes that are unlikely to come up in teaching or in counseling interviews without them.

(Do not distribute this PROFILE until your counselee or student has completed the RELIGIOUS ATTITUDES INVENTORY).

This Religious Attitudes Profile is designed to help you and your counselor study some of the responses you have made on the Religious Attitudes Inventory. There are six questions in the Profile. The answer you tend to give to each of these questions can be determined by your responses to certain Inventory statements. Below each Profile question are numbers which correspond to Inventory items that relate to this question. The goal of the Profile is to discover whether — and how strongly — you tend to answer "Yes" or "No" to each Profile question.

HOW TO COMPLETE THIS PROFILE

1. Look at your responses to those statements on the Inventory that are represented by their numbers on this Profile.
2. To show that you agreed (circled A) or strongly agreed (circled SA) with an Inventory statement, circle its number on the Profile.
3. Place a question mark over those Profile numbers which represent statements about which you were undecided (circled U) in your Inventory response.
4. Make a check mark over those Profile numbers which represent Inventory statements with which you either strongly agreed or strongly disagreed. There will be check marks over some numbers that have not been circled. This indicates strong disagreement. Check marks over circled numbers show strong agreement.
5. It is best to complete the entire Profile before you draw any conclusions about your responses to the Profile questions.
6. Be completely honest in transferring the answer you gave on the Inventory to the Profile sheet. Unless you do this, the Profile will be meaningless. If, after seeing a Profile question, you wish to change your response to an Inventory statement, this will be a good point at which to begin your discussions with your counselor.

KEY TO UNDERSTANDING THE PROFILE

Note that numbers representing Inventory statements have been placed on this Profile in two columns. These are: "Column 1," numbers on the left hand side of the page, and "Column 2," numbers on the right.

1. Circles in "Column 1" directly under each Profile question indicate a tendency to answer "Yes" to that question. Circles in "Column 2" indicate a tendency to answer "No" to the question.
2. The absence of circles in "Column 1" strengthens a "No" answer and indicates a "No" answer when there are no numbers in "Column 2." The absence of circles in "Column 2" strengthens a "Yes" answer.
3. The relative strength of an answer to a Profile question may be indicated by the number of circles and also by the check marks you have made. You will recall that check marks over circled numbers indicate strong agreement while check marks over uncircled numbers show strong disagreement.
4. Ambiguity and indecision may be shown by an approximately equal number of "Yes" and "No" responses to the same question or by numerous question marks. This calls for discussion with your counselor.

Remember that this Profile does not provide a complete picture of your religious feelings and attitudes. It furnishes one way to further your religious development by suggesting areas in which thoughtful discussion may be helpful to you.
